VOLUME VIII

PUBLISHED BY THE SENIOR CLASS
OF
FARM LIFE HIGH SCHOOL
CHINA GROVE, N. C.

Foreword

WE, the annual staff, submit to you this volume of THE PARROT, hoping that it may bring golden memories to those who are completing the journey; and that it may help to guide the girls and boys of the years to come. We have tried to put into tangible form the spirit of our school, and we hope that the picture has been painted in true and realistic colors.

Senior Class History

IT seems as if we have been fighting a great battle for four long years and have just won the victory. The road was rough and there were many obstacles in the way which we felt we could not overcome; but trust, faith, and work have brought us to goals set up four years ago.

In September, in the fall of nineteen hundred and twenty-six, we entered the Farm Life School. Sixty-one of us Freshmen came from all parts of Rowan County and from many other places. It is useless to say we were "green," because that is understood. We felt as if we were as important as anyone in the whole school, although we dared not say so. When school closed in the spring, we were very anxious for the summer months to pass so that we could return again.

The next fall, we were happier than ever because we had reached the Sophomore class. That year we chose Josephine Miller for president. Our class advisors were Miss Fleming and Miss Head. We were proud of ourselves and worked hard to reach the Junior class, because we thought we would be more important.

The next fall we entered school and took our seats in the Junior section. Oh! how great we felt. We were very happy that year because we were thinking of being Seniors the next year. We chose Mary Miller for president. Our class advisors were Miss Fleming and Mrs. Brown. We had a fine time. The most important event was the Junior-Senior Banquet, which was enjoyed by all present.

Our Senior year has come. Some of us, I know are happy, although some may not be. This year we have been very fortunate in choosing Charles Rankin for our president. Charles has made us a wonderful president. We were also fortunate in getting Miss Fleming and Miss Bobbitt for our class advisors. Miss Fleming has been with us for quite a while and we love her very much. This is Miss Bobbitt's first year, but we have loved her also from the very beginning.

There have been many changes made this year here at the Farm Life. We have a new Superintendent, Mr. Miller, who is working hard to better conditions around the school. A great thing is being done at present, and that is the building of the gymnasium. We realize it will not do us much good, but we hope it will be a great benefit for those who are coming along in our footsteps.

We realize that we have just begun our careers in life, but we feel we are better prepared to bear the responsibilities that are before us because of having spent four years at the Farm Life School. We hope our future will be so great that when we come to the end of life's road we can hear the Master say to each of us, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

—MILDRED BASINGER.

Senior Class Prophecy

WHEN I was selected as class prophetess I was stunned. I have no supernatural powers that I may draw aside the veil of the future or read the books of fate. And I can still vividly recall the results of an occasion when I had let my imagination run wild and let it appear as the truth. What would I do?

One night as I sat pondering these things, I turned to my radio for solace. I turned the dial and—! Squaw grr-r-r-sw-n-ww! That must be the farm news! Quickly I turned the dial again and out of the air—or was it only the wanderings of a troubled mind—came clearly and unmistakably the voice of Rogers Dayvault.

"The news of the class of 1930 is being broadcast by station FLS on the twentieth anniversary of their graduation in 1930. Rogers Dayvault, station announcer. Charles Rankin has achieved distinction as the most prominent lawyer and the first governor to come from China Grove. Politicians predict nothing short of the presidency for him. Now we can say 'We knew him when—.'

"Elizabeth Harris and Charles Templeton are delighting millions with their beautiful voices. They broadcast every night from Shreveport, La.

"All stenographers don't go wrong; for example, we have Grace Liles and Mary Camilla Eddleman, the perfect stenographers for Linn Simpson, chairman of the Federal Farm Board. Perfect stenographers? Maybe, perfect boss? Certainly!

"As you are looking over your American Magazine, notice the new art section. It was done by Mary Frances Yorke, art editor of the magazine.

"Doris Barnhardt is doing the usual thing, making hearts stand still. She is a stunt flyer in an air circus.

"Mildred Basinger and Lorene Fleming couldn't decide between marriage and careers as authors; so they took both. Living close together, they are co-authors of a newspaper column, 'Your Baby and Mine' (successful women).

"Nellie Sue McNeely has made a hit in the talkies. See and hear her in 'A Lady of Love,' her latest picture. Her leading man is Phil Denny. (Soon the Fairbanks may have rivals for their title of 'happiest couple in Hollywood.')

"Marjorie Silliman, who always does everything she undertakes in a big way, is the head of the advertising department of the E-Z Reducing Company.

"Bill Carrigan, noted traveler, has recently made an important connection with Mary Daily Little. Miss Little is to be director of sports and recreation on the Carrigan Personally Conducted Tours.

"Clyde Liles is now superintendent of the Farm Life School. Showing remarkably good sense, he has selected as teachers for the institution: Mary Fisher, history; Rebecca Dickerson, foreign languages.

"Ruth Bost has changed her name—she is now Mlle. Lorraine and has an exclusive shop on Fifth Avenue, New York. Her stateliest model is Zelia Blackwelder. (No wonder dresses are long if our present styles originate there.)

"Roy McCorkle, Jessie Smith, and Charlie Sloop still believe in the farm. As three of the most prominent farmers of Rowan county, they stand out as graduates of Farm Life's agricultural department.

"Of course, Norman Corriher is a farmer. He was recently honored as North Carolina's master farmer. And he, who didn't believe in going to college spent a week at State. (Norman in college? Shocking!)

"Edith and Ethel Ritchie, our twins, who believed beauty to be only skin deep, have opened a beauty parlor in China Grove. (Ah-m- after all, the skin is all that shows anyway.)

"'Truth is stranger than fiction,' said MacFadden, and made a fortune. Roasy Stirewalt said the same thing and proved it in a chemistry laboratory. Now she is Dr. Roasy Stirewalt of the Rowan Academy of Science.

"Earl Lipe, Floyd Dickerson and John Carter have entered a partnership for the purpose of opening a chain of filling stations of repair shops for Fords and Chevrolets.

"Arlie Hahn and Herman Blackwelder have joined the ranks of those who go down to sea in ships. They are stationed in Shanghai, China, where Arlie is teaching the Chinese how to play football as it was done at Farm Life.

"Ray Poole, after being on the All-American football team for two years, decided to make football his business. Ray is coaching at Duke University now. (The Blue Devils will beat Chapel Hill now.)

"Isoline Cress and Agnes Stirewalt are married. They're making better farmers by being better farmers' wives.

"Virginia Sutherland, after becoming a nurse, opened her own hospital. She is teaching people to laugh their way back to health.

"Two of the boys have entered the teaching profession. Paul Bost is teaching algebra and geometry at Landis, and William McKnight is professor of serious thought at Catawba College.

"Mary Bell Fink is Ze-Z-ZE-R-sw-w-w." (No wonder there's static. Of course the thing would blow up right then. Now what is going to become of me?)

Well, this is what I heard and I'll say with Ripley, "Believe it or not." Stranger things have happened.

—MARY BELLE FINK.

Last Will and Testament

WE, the class of '30, feeling that the time draws near when we shall depart and be no more—dignified Seniors—having acquired some amount of property during our sojourn in this place, wish to make a fair dispensation to our friends. By this, our Last Will and Testament, we hereby revoke and make void all former wills and promises made by us.

Item I—To our parents and to those who have made possible our training here, we extend our undying love and devotion.

Item II—We give and bequeath to our beloved Principal, Mr. Miller, our sincere affection, our heartiest gratitude, and the whole unlimited wealth of our memory. Also, we give him the right to watch every step of our future life.

Item III—To our class advisors, Miss Bobbitt and Miss Fleming, we give our heartiest thanks for their guidance throughout our Senior year.

Item IV—To the faculty we will our sincere appreciation for all they have done for us and give them the right to use all scrap-paper and worn school supplies that they may need in training our successors.

Item V—To the class of '31, we give the privilege of following in our footsteps and hope they will be as great a success as we.

Item VI—The following may seem but trifling bequests, but we hope they may be accepted, not as worthless things, but as valuable assets to those who may receive them and serve as a continual reminder of the generosity of heart displayed in our free and full bestowal:

1st: Doris Barnhardt leaves her love for Bruce Sloop to "Kit" Dellinger, and her vanity to Elizabeth Deal.

2nd: To Paulanna Cooper, Mildred Basinger bequeaths her pleasant disposition and hopes she will retain it forever.

3rd: Charles Rankin leaves his official dignity as represented by his titles—class president and business manager—to John Keller, and also his claim to world fame, brought about by his discovery of perpetual motion characterized by the ever-swinging watch chain, to anyone having energy enough to use it.

4th: Agnes Stirewalt wills her power to work successfully with geometrical figures to Richard Kirk.

5th: Phil Denny bequeaths his ability to sing bass to Bruce Sloop and his love for the fairer sex to Clyde Whitley.

6th: Virginia Sutherland wills her hatred of the opposite sex to Margaret James, but retains her desire for a rich husband.

7th: Ruth Bost bequeaths her ability to be neat to Pauline McNeely.

8th: Mary Daily Little wills her love to play basketball to Lala Miller.

9th: Norman Corriher leaves the remainder of the package of peanuts he failed to get devoured during study period to Ralph Templeton, provided he solemnly promises to keep the good work going; to his brother, Carl, he wills his wonderful "state of mind," realizing it to be a good thing to keep in the family.

10th: To Mary Winecoff, Elizabeth Harris leaves her ancestors. She feels she will not need them any more. She can face the world behind her own coat of paint.

11th: William McKnight leaves his hopes to grow tall to Leddell Ketchie. Bill hopes that "Ketchie" will take advantage of those old hopes.

12th: To anybody who needs it, Rodgers Dayvault's bluff. Apply early and avoid the rush.

13th: Mary Belle Fink leaves her ability to answer history questions to Ira Lee Baker.

14th: Marjorie Silliman wills Zelia Walker her extra "pounds" and Zelia is to use them in the way she sees fit.

15th: Nellie Sue McNeely leaves her blushes to Voncile Bostian and Nell hopes she will use them to a good advantage.

16: Ray Poole, after much persuasion, has consented to leave his athletic abilities to Roy Miller and Ray thinks Roy will make good use of them.

17th: To Helen James, Roasy Stirewalt leaves her "specs." Helen is to guard against rough treatment.

18th: Lynn Simpson's child-like faith in believing everything that's told him, he bequeaths to Ira Lee Baker, and his love for French to John Hanney Keller.

19th: Grace Liles leaves her curly hair to Mary Winecoff.

20th: To George Fleming, Arlie Hahn leaves his bashful disposition, and to Floyd Overcash, his position as Mr. Brown's helper.

21st: To Paulanna Cooper, Mary Fisher wills her place as class pet.

22nd: Jesse Smith bequeaths his big feet to Ralph Fink.

23rd: Edith Ritchie leaves her place as the outstanding player on basketball team to the player who needs it most.

24th: Isoline Cress bequeaths her quietness to Evelyn Beaver.

25th: To any member of the Junior class who fears he will be an old bachelor, Bill Carrigan leaves his string of girls.

26th: To Barbara Hammer, Mary Camilla Eddleman wills her giggling apparatus.

27th: Floyd Dickerson leaves his blue Chevrolet to anyone who will make good use of it.

28th: To Lillian Moose, Ethel Ritchie bequeaths her bobbie pins.

29th: Charlie Sloop leaves his Senior dignity to Costella Bostian.

30th: Roy McCorkle leaves his comb to "Midget" Parks and hopes he will make good use of it, as it is very valuable.

31st: Lorene Fleming bequeaths her incomparable vocabulary to Earl Lipe.

32nd: To Margaret James, Rebecca Dickerson leaves her Cæsar book.

33rd: To Clarence Barnhardt. John Carter leaves his seat in chapel and hopes Clarence will make good use of it.

34th: Herman Blackwelder bequeaths his "kinky" hair to Marvin Deal and believes Marvin will soon be able to comb it.

35th: Mark Davis leaves his geometry notebook to Jimmy Correll.

36th: Mary Frances Yorke leaves her compact to Ann Blackwelder and her art abilities to Helen James.

37th: Clyde Liles leaves his ability to type to Lee Shuffler and hopes Lee will make a big thing of it.

38th: Zelia Blackwelder leaves her pink felt hat to any member of the Freshman class who will wear it.

39th: I, Charles Templeton, do will and bequeath my position as chapel pianist to Mary Louise Brown and my fiery temper to Bruce Sloop, provided he will not let the fire go out.

Counsel and Co-operation

More than any other business or professional man, the funeral director must consider the feelings of those with whom he deals. This requires not only sympathy to comply with the most trivial wishes of his patrons. In this organization we make it a rule that the patron's wish is law. Our part is not to dictate, but to counsel and coöperate.

JOKES

WE: "Lindy."

IT: Clara Bow.

I: Mr. Brown.

❖ ❖ ❖

MR. CRAWFORD (in science class): I will use my hat to represent the planet Mars. Is there any question before I go on?

JACK: Yes, is Mars inhabited?

❖ ❖ ❖

Miss Jones was explaining to her history class one day that some day we shall talk through the air without wires.

Ralph Templeton quickly remarked: "Won't it be funny to have an operator tell you that the air is busy?"

❖ ❖ ❖

STRANGER: I represent a society for the suppression of profanity. I want to take profanity out of our life.

BILL MCKNIGHT (to "Jet" Deal): Hey, "Jet," here's a man who wants to buy your Ford.

❖ ❖ ❖

Bill Carrigan went home one afternoon. He did not want to study, but he knew he ought to. Finally he decided to flip a coin to see whether he would study or not. These were his terms: "Heads, I go to the show; tails, I go to bed; edge, I study."

❖ ❖ ❖

Miss Fleming was discussing points in education on English class one day and asked Elizabeth Harris how she liked picture shows and books. The reply was: "I don't like them. I like the real stuff."

❖ ❖ ❖

MARY DAILY LITTLE: "The doctor told me to exercise every morning with dumbbells. Will the class please join me tomorrow before breakfast?"

❖ ❖ ❖

MR. WALL (to Margaret Deal): "What is the height of your ambition?"

MARGARET: "He is five feet eleven and a half."

❖ ❖ ❖

"Won't you stay for dinner?"

"No, thanks, I'm too hungry."

❖ ❖ ❖

DOS, BARNHARDT (to Miss Jones): "I do not want a chaperon, all I want is a chap alone."

❖ ❖ ❖

MR. MILLER: "What I say to you pupils seems to go in one ear and out the other."

RAY POOLE: "Of course, what is there to stop it?"

❖ ❖ ❖

"What is the function of the skull?"

"To hold your hat."

❖ ❖ ❖

MISS BOBBITT: "What three words are most commonly used in this class?"

LIZ. HARRIS: "I don't know."

MISS BOBBITT: "Correct."

THE THRILL OF SAVING

No one is too old, too young, too rich or too poor to enjoy the thrill of saving money. The habit grows stronger with time. The measure of your value to yourself and your country is the surplus accumulated from year to year.

All are treated alike at this friendly bank and we cordially invite your account, whether large or small.

Can You Imagine—

Miss Loftin gaining "undivided attention?"

The dormitory girls going to town at leisure?

Mr. Wall not being able to get something at reduced rates?

Miss Neely not boosting Kentucky?

Mr. Crawford as a lieutenant?

Dr. Stirewalt going to Pinehurst for a week-end?

Mr. Brown forgetting to feed his pigs?

A morning in chapel without a "stay-in" list?
